

Environment and Science can co-exist

Green LIVING

He has left his job in Software Development to start an NGO called Digital Empowerment Foundation, to enable grassroot level organisations connect to the rest of the world using ICT (Informationn and Communication Technology). Osama Manzar, unlike some environmentalists, believes that technology can be used in favour of the planet. He states the example of millions of mobiles, which if used purposefully, can reduce the carbon footprint of people who would instead have to travel to complete their work.

Osama Manzar

Padmavati Dwivedi

10/04/2010

